"Since wars begin in the minds of men, it is in the minds of men that the defences of peace must be constructed". (Constitution of UNESCO)

How do we uphold the spirit of the World Heritage Convention and its associated aims of promoting peace and reconciliation in times of conflict and war?

Role of the Swedish National Heritage Board

- State authority with an overall responsibility for the World Heritage Convention in Sweden, with a special responsibility for cultural heritage.
- National co-ordination, communication and periodic reporting to UNESCO.
- Supervision of conservation, e.g. give opinions in court cases and advice the government, assist in state-of-conservation reporting to the World Heritage Centre.
- International work, e.g. participation in World Heritage Committee meetings.
- National strategy for World Heritage with an action plan (2019).

National Strategy for World Heritage

Vision:

- World Heritage sites show the way to a sustainable and peaceful future.

Goals:

- Sustainable development goals help shape World Heritage management in Sweden;
- World Heritage management is conducted in an exemplary way with best practice examples on sustainable conservation, use and development of natural- and cultural heritage;
- Participation in international work and promoting the Convention as an efficient and credible tool within UNESCO;
- Work on World Heritage is determined by co-operation, dialogue and local co-determination.

Action Plan for World Heritage Strategy 2021-2024

1. Make better use World Heritage sites as tools for sustainable societal development.
2. Increase knowledge about the World Heritage Convention and site management amongst both key stakeholders and the general public.
3. Improve communication on World Heritage sites and their global significance.
4. Improve disaster preparedness and adaptation to climate change impacts.
5. Develop management planning for World Heritage sites in Sweden.
6. Improve mechanisms for consultations and impact assessments for informed decisions on managing change at World Heritage sites.
7. Improve the division of responsibility amongst the various stakeholders.
8. Provide financial support towards the work of Site Managers at World Heritage sites.
9. Active participation in international work and co-operation.

Day-to-day work at national level
